FILM STUDY GUIDE

A repeatable system for seeing the game earlier, learning your role, preparing for opponents, and turning film into better decisions.

A field guide by Elijah Bryant.
Do not just watch the game. Learn to read it.

WHY FILM MATTERS

IMPROVE WITHOUT TAXING YOUR BODY.

Film study is one of the best ways to gain skill without taxing your body. You only get so many hours on the court before fatigue or injury sets in, but with film, you can improve your game while sitting still.

The hardest part is watching objectively. Most players only see the highlights or beat themselves up over mistakes. Learn to see the reality of what happened without ego and you will grow faster.

OBJECTIVE

Separate what actually happened from how the result made you feel.

DETAILED

Look beyond points and highlights at habits that directly affect winning.

ACTIONABLE

Finish with a clear plan you can carry into the next practice.

WATCH FILM LIKE A PRO. FIND THE DETAILS THAT IMPACT WINNING.

PROCESS MINDSET: This worksheet is not a highlight review or a punishment. It is a repeatable way to identify your next one-percent improvement.

FILM SESSION

START WITH THE FACTS.

DATE OF GAME: _____

OPPONENT / TEAM: _____

1 SET THE SESSION

- [ ] Watch after your emotions from the game have settled.
- [ ] Keep a pen nearby and answer based on the film, not your memory.
- [ ] Review the entire game, including possessions where you did not touch the ball.
- [ ] Look for habits you can repeat or correct, not proof that you played well or poorly.

YOUR STANDARD: The purpose is accuracy. Do not protect your ego and do not attack yourself.

OBJECTIVE QUESTIONS

GRADE THE HABITS THAT WIN GAMES.

- [ ] Did I miss any box outs? Yes / No
- [ ] Did I miss any play calls? Yes / No
- [ ] Did I miss any help-side rotations on defense? Yes / No
- [ ] Did my player blow past me one-on-one? Yes / No
- [ ] Did I fail to use my fouls wisely when I had fouls to give? Yes / No

THIS IS NOT ABOUT STATS. IT IS ABOUT HABITS THAT IMPACT WINNING.

FOLLOW THE POSSESSION: When the answer is yes, write down the time and watch what created the mistake before it happened.

OBJECTIVE RECORD

RECORD THE NUMBERS. DO NOT HIDE IN THEM.

- [ ] Points: _____
- [ ] Assists: _____
- [ ] Rebounds: _____
- [ ] Turnovers: _____
- [ ] Fouls: _____
- [ ] Fouls drawn: _____
- [ ] FG% (2PT): _____
- [ ] 3PT%: ____ FT%: ____

2 SHOT SELECTION

- [ ] Were the shots I took shots I feel comfortable with? Yes / No
- [ ] Do I practice those shots regularly? Yes / No

REMEMBER: The box score shows outcomes. Film shows the decisions and habits that produced them.

LOOK FOR SOLUTIONS

FIND THE NEXT ONE PERCENT.

1 LIMIT TURNOVERS

Did I see ways I could limit my turnovers?

2 GRAB MORE REBOUNDS

Did I see ways I could grab more rebounds?

MAKE IT SPECIFIC: Write the position, timing, read, or physical action you can practice. Avoid answers such as “try harder.”

THE 2-1 METHOD

KEEP TWO. IMPROVE ONE.

2 TWO THINGS I DID WELL

1. _____

2. _____

1 ONE THING I CAN WORK ON

_____

_____

BALANCED REVIEW: Improvement requires honesty about mistakes and awareness of what is already working.

COMMIT TO THE WORK

WRITE THE PLAN. SIGN IT.

If you cannot hold yourself accountable, then what coach can? Turn what you learned into a plan for your next practice.

MY PLAN: _____

WINNING OR LOSING NEVER CHANGES YOUR ABILITY TO LEARN.

There will never be a game you play perfectly. There is always room to grow. Review honestly, commit to the next action, and keep showing up.

SIGN-OFF: Faith + Consistency.
