

OVERSEAS PACKING GUIDE

What to bring, what to carry on, and what to buy after you land.

A practical field guide by Elijah Bryant.
Pack for your career. Build a real life when you arrive.

WHAT I TRAVEL WITH

BRING WHAT YOU CAN'T EASILY REPLACE.

SHOP MY OVERSEAS ESSENTIALS

PRODUCT	CATEGORY	WHY IT EARNS A SPOT
OGIO Rig 9800 	Travel bag	My go-to wheeled bag for basketball shoes, recovery tools, team gear, and the bulky equipment a normal suitcase does not organize well.
Theragun PRO 	Recovery	Portable percussion work for daily maintenance and tight muscles during a long season.
Hyperice Normatec 	Recovery	Compression boots for heavy travel weeks and congested game schedules.
Game Ready 	Recovery	Specialized cold and compression for joint swelling or injury recovery. Bring it from America when it is already part of your treatment plan because the same system may be difficult to access overseas.
Toe spacers 	Foot care	Small toe spacers that pack easily and fit into a consistent foot-care routine.
Sidekick Eclipse 	Soft tissue	A compact scraping tool that is easy to carry when you know how to use it safely.
OOFOS recovery slides 	Footwear	Comfortable recovery slides for the locker room, travel days, and giving your feet a break after practice.
AirPods Pro 	Headphones	Noise cancellation for flights, focus, film, and quiet time away from the gym.
PJF bands 	Activation	Lightweight tools for warmups, mobility, and hotel-room work.

HOW TO USE THIS LIST: Start with the gear you already use consistently. The Amazon button collects the items available there; specialty products link directly to their official source.

The Amazon list and Amazon product searches use affiliate links, which means I may earn a commission from qualifying purchases at no additional cost to you. Products stocked on Amazon link to that list; specialty products link to their official source. These are personal recommendations, not guarantees. Prices, models, availability, baggage fees, and airline size limits change. Confirm current product details and your airline's rules before flying.

THE PACKING RULE

PACK FOR YOUR JOB. BUY FOR YOUR LIFE.

When you go overseas, your body becomes your business. The right gear helps you stay healthy, study film, recover, and feel settled. But you do not need to move your whole house across the world.

PROTECT WHAT IS HARD TO REPLACE. BUY THE ORDINARY STUFF THERE.

PACK FROM HOME

Specialized training tools, prescription items, preferred shoes, key electronics, and personal comfort items.

CARRY ON

Everything you need to survive the first 48 hours and anything you cannot afford to lose.

BUY THERE

Bulky, inexpensive household items such as kitchen tools, cleaning supplies, toys, and basic bedding.

FOR FAMILIES: You will buy toys, small appliances, storage bins, and everyday items that you may later give away or throw out. That is normal. You are living, not camping. Put an arrival budget aside for making the new place feel like home.

DO NOT LEAVE IMPORTANT GEAR TO CHANCE: You can ship packages from the United States, but I would not rely on international shipping for anything expensive, difficult to replace, or essential to your season. Packages can be delayed, lost, stolen, or charged additional customs fees. Bring those items when you first travel or have someone you trust carry them on a later trip.

PROTECT YOUR MONEY MAKER.

ITEM	PACK	WHY IT MATTERS
Basketball shoes ↗	2-3 pairs	Bring the exact models your feet trust. Rotate pairs and do not depend on local stock.
Recovery kit ↗	Based on routine	Choose only the recovery tools from the previous page that you already use consistently.
Wobble board ↗	Optional	Helpful for ankle and balance work, but easy to buy after arrival if luggage space is tight.
Tape, sleeves, braces ↗	Carry on	Bring your preferred sizes and brands. Replacements may be hard to find quickly.

PRO RULE: Do not bring a recovery tool because it looks professional. Bring it because you use it consistently. A compact routine you follow beats a heavy suitcase of equipment you ignore.

ELECTRONICS

STAY CONNECTED. STAY PREPARED.

1

WORK + FILM

- ☐ Laptop or tablet: film study, contracts, banking, email, and calls.
- ☐ Headphones: flights, focus, recovery, and pregame routine.
- ☐ HDMI cable + dongles: put film on the apartment or hotel TV.
- ☐ Portable drive or cloud backup: keep passport scans, contracts, medical records, and film accessible.

2

POWER + CONNECTION

- ☐ Universal plug adapters: one in your carry-on and one in your checked bag.
- ☐ Voltage check: confirm every device supports the country's voltage before plugging it in. An adapter does not convert voltage.
- ☐ Power bank: keep your phone alive during arrival, travel, and long bus days.
- ☐ Unlocked phone: makes a local SIM or eSIM much easier.
- ☐ Extra charging cables: small item, huge annoyance when one breaks.

DO NOT CHECK: laptops, tablets, cameras, hard drives, prescription devices, or spare lithium batteries. Confirm your airline's current battery rules.

CLOTHES + COMFORT

BRING ENOUGH. LEAVE ROOM TO LIVE.

CLOTHING

- ☐ Climate-appropriate layers
- ☐ Practice gear for several days
- ☐ Two professional outfits
- ☐ Comfortable travel clothes
- ☐ Slides, walking shoes, rain gear

COMFORT

- ☐ Favorite hoodie or small blanket
- ☐ Pillowcase or compact pillow
- ☐ Spices or shelf-stable snacks
- ☐ Journal, devotional, books
- ☐ A few photos from home

COMFORT IS NOT SOFTNESS. FEELING SETTLED HELPS YOU PERFORM.

3

DO NOT OVERPACK

- ☐ Do not pack a full season of toiletries or cleaning supplies.
- ☐ Do not fill bags with cheap kitchen appliances that may not match local voltage.
- ☐ Do not bring clothes you never wear at home.
- ☐ Leave space for team gear, gifts, and purchases you will bring back.

BUILD A HOME, NOT A CAMPSITE.

4 BRING

- ☐ Passports, visas, marriage certificate, birth certificates, and several secure digital copies.
- ☐ Medical records, prescriptions, vaccination records, and school documents.
- ☐ A small set of favorite toys, books, comfort items, and familiar snacks.
- ☐ Child car-seat plan confirmed before landing.
- ☐ Essential baby supplies for the first several days, plus brand photos for replacements.

5 BUY AFTER ARRIVAL

- ☐ Toys that are bulky, inexpensive, and easy to donate before the next move.
- ☐ Kitchen appliances built for local plugs and voltage.
- ☐ Laundry baskets, storage bins, cleaning products, basic dishes, and extra bedding.
- ☐ Seasonal items after you understand the real climate and apartment.

BUDGET HONESTLY: Some things will not come home with you. That does not make them wasted. If an item makes daily family life calmer for nine months, it did its job.

BE READY FOR THE FIRST 48 HOURS.

CARRY-ON

- ☐ Passport, visa, contract, team contact
- ☐ Wallet, cards, and emergency cash
- ☐ Prescription medication
- ☐ One practice outfit and one casual outfit
- ☐ Basketball shoes
- ☐ Chargers, adapter, power bank
- ☐ Toiletries within airline rules
- ☐ Family essentials for two days

ARRIVAL DAY

- ☐ Confirm airport pickup name and number
- ☐ Photograph every checked bag
- ☐ Inspect apartment before unpacking
- ☐ Test hot water, heat/AC, Wi-Fi, locks
- ☐ Locate grocery store and pharmacy
- ☐ Get local SIM/eSIM working
- ☐ Confirm first practice and medical time
- ☐ Buy only immediate household basics

IF EVERY CHECKED BAG DISAPPEARS, YOU SHOULD STILL BE ABLE TO PRACTICE TOMORROW.
